Members of the Libertyville School District Learning Community,

It is with great pride that I recognize all students, staff and the principal of Copeland Manor School as they have recently been recognized with one of the most prestigious of national academic honors, the 2017 Blue Ribbon School of Excellence.

Today, U.S. Secretary of Education Betsy DeVos, announced the successes across the country that will receive national attention, November 6 and 7, in Washington D.C. Copeland Manor School is one of 25 Schools in the state to receive such acclaim, 342 in the nation, and is now joined prominently with all previous District 70 winners; Adler Park School, Butterfield School, Rockland School and Highland Middle School.

This competitive award, developed by the Blue Ribbon Schools Program, honors public and private elementary, middle and high schools that are either performing or have improved student achievement to high levels. The program is part of a larger Department of Education effort to identify and disseminate knowledge regarding best school leadership and teaching practices. Each year since 1982, the U.S. Department of Education has sought out schools where students attain and maintain high academic goals and performance.

Receipt of this honor continues to remind us of the impressive education for which we are all an integral part. I thank each and every one of you for your dedication and commitment to our schools. I know there are many who join me in congratulating the talented students, dedicated staff and exemplary administration of Copeland Manor School for this impressive achievement and tremendous honor.

Sincerely

Dr. Guy Schumacher
Superintendent
